RICHARD MANSFIELD'S WORK ENDS

Premier Actor Of The American Stage Drops Asleep At His Country Home Never To Awake Again.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New London, Conn., Aug. 30.—Richard Mansfield, the best known actor on the American stage, died this morning at his summer residence. He was the victim of liver trouble, aggravated by complications. During his last moments Mansfield lay in a comatose condition, unable to recognize his family at the bedside.

Born in Heligoland. Richard Mansfield was born in Heligoland, May 24, 1857. His mother was Madame Andersdorf, the prima donna. At an early age Richard was sent to England to attend school, with the idea that he should become an artist. But his art studies at South Kensington were broken in upon by falling family fortunes, and the necessity of earning money to support himself rather than waiting to enter the theatre. So, through the agency of friends of his father, he set sail for London, where an opening had been made for him in a big dry goods house.

Forced Onto Stage. But business was not his forte. He spent all his leisure time in painting pictures, which he found, moreover, he could sell very readily. So he threw up his mercantile job and departed for London. The next seven years in London were years of keen disappointment to the young artist, who had a hard struggle for existence. His ability to play and sing finally landed him an engagement to play in a small part in one of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas. Then he concluded that America offered a better field for his talents and once more he set sail for Boston. Proceeding to New York, he made his first American appearance at the Standard Theatre in that city, as Dromios in "The Pirates of Penzance." This was in 1882. His next venture was Nick Vender in a musical setting of "Rip Van Winkle," after which he returned to the Gilbert and Sullivan line and appeared as the Lord Chancellor in "Iolanthe." It was not, however, until several seasons later that he attracted any amount of attention from the public. What might be called his first hit was made as Baron Chevalier in "A Parisian Romance," under the management of A. M. Palmer.

First Starred in 1886. Mr. Mansfield's first creation as a star after his appearance as the old Parisian was as Prince Karl at the Boston Museum on April 5, 1886. He followed this with "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" on May 9, 1887, at the same playhouse, six weeks later appearing at the Madison Square Theatre, New York, in his own play of "Monsieur" as the starring male master. These plays formed his repertoire for two years, at the end of which time he went to England and gave his celebrated production of "King Richard III." at the Globe Theatre, March 16, 1889. The house was not large and the production was on such a scale of magnificence that it cost more to raise the curtain each evening than the receipts could possibly amount to.

Three Failures in 1891. Mansfield returned to America the following year and gave the fifth creation of his stellar career, "Beau Brummel," at the Madison Square Theatre on May 17, 1890. This was followed by three plays, which failed of popularity: "Don Juan," on May 12, 1891; "Nero," on Sept. 21, 1891; and "Ten Thousand a Year," on Feb. 23, 1892, all first presented at the Garden Theatre, New York. On Sept. 12 of the same year he gave his classic representation of Arthur Dimmesdale in a dramatization of Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter." He now began preparations for his Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," given at Hermann's Theatre, New York, on Oct. 23, 1893.

Played Mollere in English. Next came the first of the bizarre Shaw plays. Mansfield first appeared as Capt. Bluntschli in "Arms and the Man," at the Herald Square Theatre, New York, on Sept. 17, 1894, and it was on the same stage on Nov. 23 of that year his first gave his Napoleon Bonaparte. He next opened the Garrick Theatre after a long illness, which nearly cost him his life. He gave his Don Pedro XIV. in "The King of Peru" there on May 8, 1895, and shortly followed it with "The Story of Rodion the Student" on Dec. 3. The following year, on Nov. 12, he appeared as Sir Thomas Sumbras in "Cudde Lumbrus" at the Grand Opera House, Chicago. The second Shaw play, "The Devil's Disciple," was presented in Albany on Oct. 1, 1897. The following spring in Boston, on April 18, he presented his Eugene Carver play, "The First Violin." Next came his remarkable "Cyrano de Bergerac" on Oct. 3, 1898, and his memorable appearance in the production of "King Henry V." on Oct. 7, 1899, both at the Garden Theatre, New York. The twentieth of his stellar roles was Mollere, in "Mollere," first given at the dedication of the Garrick Theatre, Philadelphia, on Oct. 7, 1901. His later plays included "Ivan his Caesar," "Don Carlos" and "The Terrible." In his production of "The Misanthrope" Mr. Mansfield was the first actor to act any Mollere comedy in English.

Married His Leading Lady. Mr. Mansfield was married September 12, 1892, to Miss Beatrice Cameron, who had been his leading woman for twelve years. She retired from the stage upon her marriage and they made their home, when Mr. Mansfield was not "on the road," in a handsome residence on Riverside Drive, New York.

J. E. Karm, injured on Railroad, Recovered from Temporary Mental Derangement.

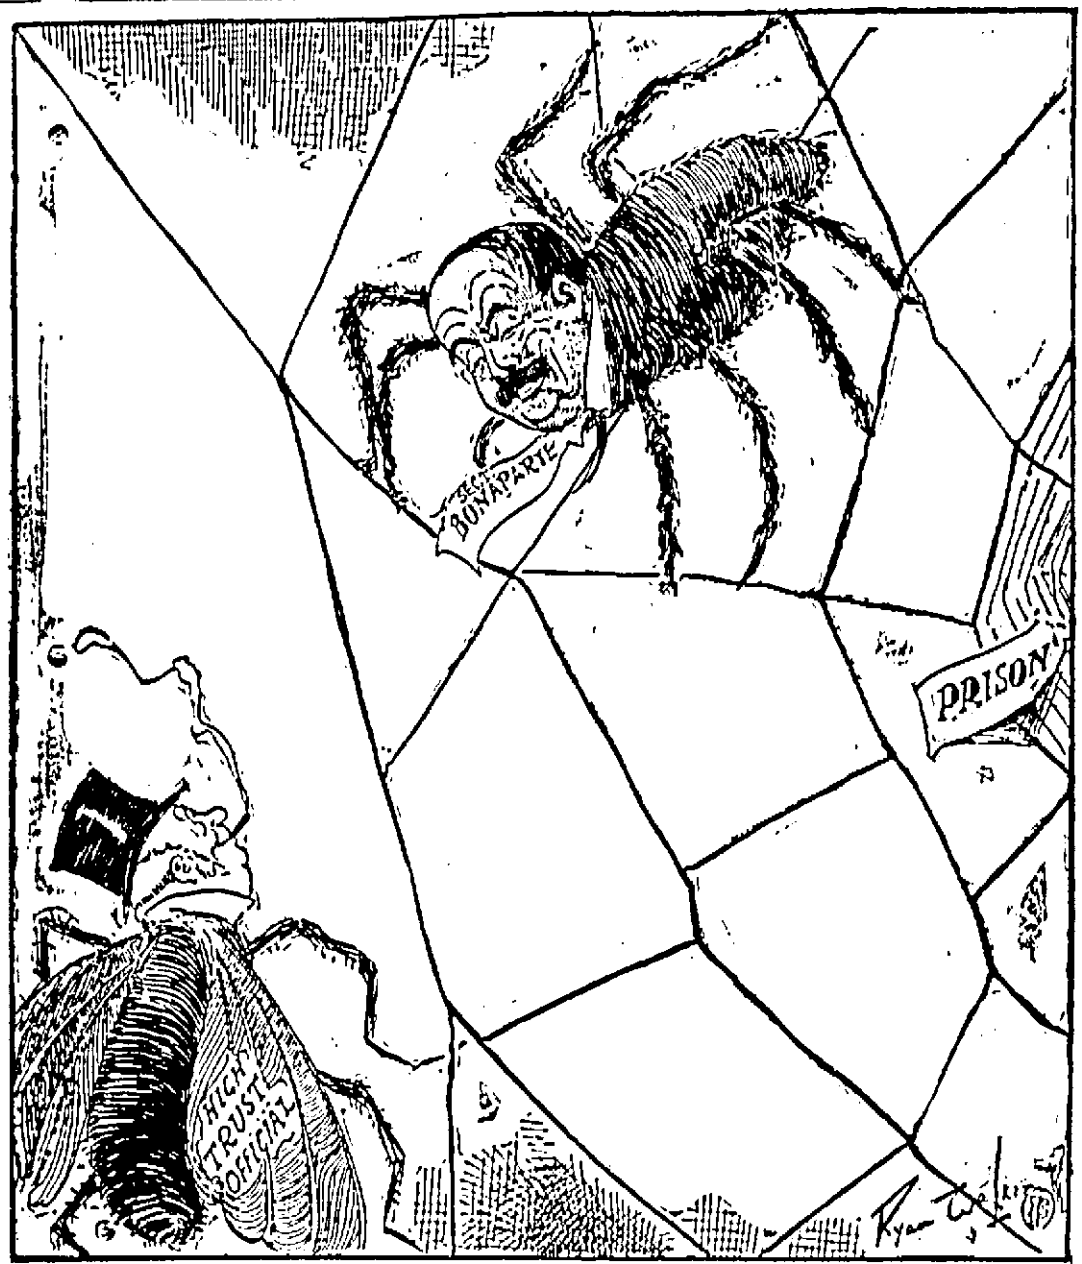

J. E. Karm, who was committed to Mendota asylum a few weeks ago because of a mental derangement resultant from a fall in had from a North-Western freight car at Crystal Lake, Ill., June 22, was brought home yesterday afternoon by his sister, Mrs. Karl A. Wetzler, and his twin brother, James C. Karm. The man who lay in a comatose condition at the Mercy hospital for over six weeks and who was later sent to Mendota because of imbecility, is now in a normal state of mind and in possession of his mental powers. All signs of derangement are gone, his relatives declare, and his mind is clear. Mr. Karm will leave tomorrow morning for Lakeland, Ind., his mother's home, where he will recuperate for a year or so. He is weak physically from his long illness but the physicians state that he will recover his former strength. Mr. Karm was injured at Crystal Lake, Ill., while switching in the North-Western yards at that place. He was standing on the top of a car when it is declared another moving car bumped into the one he was standing on knocking him to the ground. His back and head were injured and he was brought to this city and placed in the Mercy hospital.

Association of German Editors Hold Silver Jubilee—Ex-Gov. Emil Baensch Was Organizer.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Manitowoc, Wis., Aug. 30.—The silver jubilee, or twenty-fifth annual convention of the Wisconsin German Press association began here today. Up to noon thirty delegates had arrived, but it is expected that this number will be swollen to fifty before night. The association was formed here in 1882. Ex-Gov. Emil Baensch, one of the founders, welcomed the guests today.

The first business session was held this afternoon. After the final work tomorrow, the editors will be taken on a sight-seeing trip, and on Sunday there will be a picnic.

Friends to Study Religions.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 30.—Members of the Society of Friends are looking forward with much interest to a school for religious and social study which they have arranged to conduct for two weeks, beginning tomorrow, at Georgia School, in Bucks County.

This will be a new venture on the part of the so-called liberal section of the society in the United States. The proposed school is, however, a natural sequence to the revival that has been in progress among the Quakers of this branch for several years along lines of religious philanthropy and educational activity. The purpose of the school is to inspire and equip members of the society for practical and effective work in the presentation of the Quaker message to the world, whether it is in the line of distinctively religious, educational or social endeavor. The arrangements for the school have been made under the direction of the general conference committee for the advancement of Friends' principles.

MAY CHANGE GARB OF ENLISTED ARMY MEN

Felt Said to be Unsatisfied for Campaigns in Hot Climate; Have Gagged Knees in Infantrymen's Trousers.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—Changes in uniform for the enlisted men of the army, with a view to making it more practical for everyday service purposes, are receiving attention at the War Department just now. Various recommendations have been received on the subject, one of which has come from Col. L. M. Maus, whose observations are based on his experiences with the militia in the field. He believes that the present regulation felt hat is unsuitable for campaign purposes in a hot or tropical climate, and that the infantry marching trousers should be made full around the knee, and the cuff extended down the leg far enough to be enclosed by the top of the marching shoe, thus doing away with the present regulation.

McKay, who caught them at Jim Falls last week. They are spring birds, and measure six feet from tip to tip. They have already been tamed by McKay, and were permitted to fly all around his barnyard. Mr. McCormick will have them on exhibition in the lobby of the hotel.

LOST GOLD WATCH IN PECULIAR WAY

Henry Laymonde Had Strange Encounter with a Tramp on Wednesday Evening Last.

Henry Laymonde, the South River street barber, had a peculiar experience at a late hour Wednesday evening. In response to a knock at his door he opened it in costume somewhat disheveled to find a man begging for bread. Mr. Laymonde reproved the beggar for intruding at that hour of the night and when he responded with an impudent remark, struck at him. The visitor hit back and then fled. Mr. Laymonde in full pursuit. It should be mentioned incidentally that Mr. Laymonde's waistcoat in which he carried his watch, was unbuttoned. When he returned from the fray the gold timepiece was gone. The beggar later on came back to state the house. Whether the watch was lost or stolen is a question that now remains to be solved.

GREATEST RACE OF YEAR AT SHEEPSHEAD TOMORROW

Twentieth Annual Futurity May Be Taken Off By J. R. Keene's Horse, Colin, Who Won Saratoga Special.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, Aug. 30.—The great Futurity, worth about $50,000, will be run over the six-furlong straight course at Sheepshead Bay tomorrow, the opening day of the Coney Island Jockey Club's autumn meeting. It is the banner event of the metropolitan racing season and always draws the largest and most enthusiastic crowd of the year. Even in the most dismal weather the beautiful course has been packed on Futurity day, and this year plans have been made to accommodate at least 50,000 people.

The Keene, Belmont, Whitney and other prominent stables have entered their best 2-year-olds in the classic event, and from present indications a big field will go to the barrier. The favorite will undoubtedly be Colin, James R. Keene's unbeaten son of Commodo. Colin has started six times this year and in each instance he has been returned an easy winner. At no time has he been extended, though on several occasions he has shown a tendency to loaf. Beginning at an overnight event at Belmont Park, which he captured in a gallop, the champion has won the National Stallion stakes, the Eclipse stakes, the Great Trial stakes, the Brighton Junior stakes and the Grand Union Hotel stakes, accidentally taking the measure of all the best youngsters yet shown.

Regarded as Race of Years. This will be the twentieth running of the Futurity, which is the largest stake offered in this country for horses. Of late years the event has come to most race followers outside the regular track contingent to be the one race of the year, to rank with the Suburban and Brooklyn Handicap as an event to be watched at all costs.

The conditions are exceedingly strict and it is by no means a cheap race to start in, though an original entry is not specially expensive. This circumstance has served to bring out the best colts of the year as a rule, and it is rare that a 2-year-old of real quality is barred from starting. The field is usually a brilliant one, and this year promises to be no exception.

The stake was started in 1888 and the very first is deemed in some respects the best of the series, Proctor Knott, defeating the mighty Salvator in a great race, and winning a fortune for his owner, who was accounted a poor man to be in such company. The race in 1891, when His Highness defeated Yorkville Belle and Dagonet, was another one to be remembered. In 1895 Donning and Dobbin were the contenders, beginning their remarkable rivalry for turf honors.

In 1897 came the greatest surprise of the series, when L'Alouette captured the stake, an utter outsider, wholly unregarded by the wise ones in turf form. Since then colts like L'Alouette or Roy, Savable, whose chief claim to notice was as a son of Salvator, Humburg, Belle, Artful, Ormondale and Electioneer have captured the stake, fully rewarding the hopes of a majority of the students of form.

Chance to Earn $100,000. Should Colin capture the big event tomorrow it will mean that he has won for James R. Keene, his owner, the enormous sum of $100,000 in one season. When Colin won the Saratoga Special a few weeks ago he increased his earnings for the season to $53,555.

There are not more than a score of horses in turf history that have won $100,000 in their entire career of racing, so it can readily be understood what a great feat Colin will accomplish should he end his 2-year-old career with $100,000 to his credit. In fact there have been few horses that have won $50,000 during their 2-year-old careers. So it is not to be wondered at that many turf critics share Mr. Keene's opinion that Colin is the superior of the late Sysonby or the great Danlin.

GOVERNORS WILL DEBATE TRUSTS AND SHERMAN ACT

Davidson Will Be Among Executives Who Will Meet In Chicago In The National Conference On Corporations.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Chicago, Ill., Aug. 30.—A score of governors have accepted invitations to take part in the national conference on corporations and trusts to be held in this city next month under the auspices of the National Civic Federation. Among the number are Governors Cummins of Iowa, Folk of Minnesota, Hughes of New York, Cutler of Utah, Warner of Michigan, and Davidson of Wisconsin.

The conference will consider the trust and combination problem, especially the State and Federal regulation of the corporations, and also the question of what amendment, if any, should be made to the Sherman Anti-trust act. The conference is intended to give an opportunity for a free and full discussion by representative men from all the walks of life and of every shade of opinion.

The subjects that are to be discussed are divided into three classes, the first of which deals with the governmental power under the Constitution between the Nation and the State, and the power concurrent in Nation and State.

The second class deals with the question of how should the corporation be constructed? Should there be national as well as state corporations? The basis of capitalization of corporations, the internal control of corporations, provisions looking to the protection of investors and the stockholders, as well as fair dealing with the public, and the distinction between public service and other corporations.

The third division is to consider the just and practicable limits of the restriction and regulation, Federal and State, of combinations in transportation, production, distribution and labor. In other words, the conference will take up the very latest phases of the trust question, and from all indications the meeting will be the most important of its kind ever held in this country.

JAMES BOSS CLAIMS TO HAVE BEEN ROBBED OF $12.

ON LITTLE DRIVE TO MILTON

Was Given the Slip by Strategy, Not Force—Edward Welch and Fred Chatsky of Beloit Under Arrest.

"Oh no, there wasn't any rough work. They were the most sociable and agreeable fellows I was over out with. That was all wrong about their throwing me out of the rig. You see, I met them in Byron and Hemming's place and when I said I would have to get a rig and drive back to the farm, they insisted on attending to the matter and taking me out there. Hemming told me not to go with them—to get a rig for myself at Sherman's. But I thought I could take care of myself. Knew that if there was any fighting to be done I could be 'T.H.G.' That's where I was foolish. One of 'em sat on my knee going out. I had a pocket-book containing two five-dollar bills—one a yellow-back—and about $2.10 in silver. I suppose they just naturally reached in and got that while we were driving along and laughing over the good stories that were being told. Anyway I didn't like that nor my gold mounted blar phie until afterwards. May have lost a mile from my place—right near Mr. Nally's farm, when the driver lost the road and drove up into a fence. The little fellow jumped out and said he would try and find where we were and so I jumped out too to help him. The fore I noticed what they were in to the little fellow jumped back into the rig, and the other fellow started up the rig. They made a close turn which nearly upset the buggy. In heading about for Janesville, and next thing hit a post which would have wrecked the rig if it had been well grounded and not old and rotten. A little piece down the road they ran into the ditch, but they were out again in a life and hitting it no for the city. It was then I found I was robbed and regretted that I had not taken Hemming's advice. Once or twice, while I was with 'em a suspicion crossed my mind that they might be blacklegs and I was already to defend myself if anybody made a queer move. But they were fully as could be and not a single provoking word was spoken. It was pretty decent of them to take me that near home and it didn't take me long to get to a place where I could have someone reach the Janesville police station by telephone."

Six-Footer Gently "Rolled" at the office of City Marshal Appleby this morning by James Boss, a blue-eyed six-footer with flaxen hair and mustache who is employed as a farm hand on the Boholtz farm near Milton. While he was talking the smiling wiles of Edward Welch and Fred Chatsky of Beloit returned with coolies, fruit, and other dainties for the two suspects, one of whom was confined in the women's cell adjoining the office and the other in the lock-up cage. Boss looked at them with interest. "How looking women," he said meditatively.

Immediately after the message was received from Milton, City Marshal Appleby began making inquiries and learned that two strangers had hired a rig at the Goodman livery earlier in the evening. He immediately detailed Officer Thomas Morrissey to watch the stable; sent Officer Fred Denko to South Janesville to frustrate any attempt to escape by abandoning the horse and buggy and taking an interurban car in that locality; and himself with Officer Brown secured a rig and drove up Milton avenue as far as the creamery, hoping to intercept the supposed fugitives on their way to town. A man and a girl who drove into the Goodman livery first fell under suspicion but subsequently, about nine o'clock, Officer Morrissey took in tow a man who came in alone with an equipment and who answered to the description given of one of the men. The description of the other one who was wanted proved to be incorrect and he slipped by and boarded an interurban car. This individual, whose name is Edward Welch and whose vocation is that of a teamster, was picked up in Beloit at an early hour this morning and brought to Janesville. When examined at the lock-up last evening Chatsky had a number of trinkets and about $5 in money on his person. When closely questioned by City Marshal Appleby and District Attorney Fisher this afternoon, Welch and Chatsky, while admitting that they were the parties who went driving with Boss, stoutly protested their innocence of the alleged theft. They said that Boss was to pay them for driving him out but they could offer no satisfactory explanation for so unceremoniously leaving him without asking for the money, beyond the fact that they were both intoxicated. The weight of evidence is not yet sufficient to warrant the State in proceeding against them, and if nothing new develops they may not be held after tomorrow.

RESUME WORK AT MONTEREY BRIDGE

Trouble Over Employment of Non-union Man Settled and Workmen Satisfied.

Masons, who have been working on the stone work at the Monterey bridge in the employ of the contracting firm of Pates & Rogers, returned to work this morning after being on a temporary lay-off of about two days according to E. L. Marshall, secretary of the Masons' union. Trouble arose between the union men and the contractors Wednesday morning when a non-union man was employed on the job. The masons quit work then and did not resume labor until this morning, being ordered to go back to work last evening by Mr. Marshall, secretary of the union, according to a statement made by him this noon when seen while at work at the Jefferson school building. E. L. Copeland, assistant superintendent of the work at the bridge, declared yesterday that there was no strike on among the masons in the employ of the contractors. He reiterated this statement this morning and said that they had not lost a day's work by any strike here. He said that everything was running smoothly since the non-union man had been discharged and declared that no raise in pay had been asked and none had been granted.

Janesville people who may wed while out of town or who leave the county for the purpose, must report to the county clerk, giving the date, place and time of the wedding, principals, officiating clergyman or justice and all facts to make a complete record to file with the state. The report is demanded under a law passed by the last legislature and is aimed to give publicity to all marriages and under the act, if it is enforced, there is now little chance of a marriage being secret for a very long time. The report is required under the law providing collection of vital statistics.

If you wish your diamonds to be "dew white" don't let any yellow furnishings come near them. Women with splendid parures have found that yellow satin and brocade "kill" their gems, and even jewelers are careful to show diamonds where no yellow light can touch them. The "off color" stone is brilliant, but doomed.

RIFLE IN TREE TRUNK.

Oak Has Grown Around the Gun, Almost Completely Imbedding It.

About 11 miles from Contraila, on the road to Little Rock, is a curiosity, to see which would amply repay any one for the drive, says the Seattle Times. About fifty yards from the road, near a deserted homestead, is an old-fashioned rifle imbedded in the trunk of a tree.

The trunk of the scrub oak is not more than six inches through at the point where the rifle is imbedded, so that the stock and barrel are in complete view. The rifle is in a perfect state of preservation.

It is evident that the rifle was placed in a crotch of the tree many years ago, probably at the height at which a man would rest a gun when taking careful aim.

In the course of years the tree has grown completely around the rifle, the lock being imbedded. The crotch is now about six inches above the barrel and the gun is about ten feet from the ground.

Romances innumerable might be woven about the old rifle, but it stands as a memento to the development and progress that have taken place. What was a wild and unexplored country at the time when the rifle was first placed in the crotch of the tree, with the red man monarch of all he surveyed, with scattered settlements of hardy pioneers already preparing to contest his supremacy, is now dotted with farms and homes of prosperous families.

Herring Carry a Boat a Mile.

The latest fish story to come in is that of James Muddock, a fisherman, who was caught in the midst of a large school of herring in Gumpowder river, and claims that his boat was fairly carried along on the backs of the fish.

According to Maddox, despite his efforts at the oars, he was carried nearly a mile out of his course before he succeeded in extricating his boat from the school. In one haul of a big 600-fathom seine so many herring were surrounded that it was impossible to land the catch.

Schools of herring moving into the head waters of Chesapeake Bay to spawn are now so thick that they dam the river and rowboats cannot get through them.—Minneapolis Journal.

A Great Bonfire.
The biggest bonfire ever seen in this vicinity was the burning Saturday night of the old Portsmouth, N. H., government drydock, which was towed to the Point of Pines a few weeks ago to be broken up for junk, says the Hartford Courant.

The immense structure, which cost $1,000,000, went up in smoke for the amusement of about 20,000 people. The old dock was fired at 7:30, and so solid was the timbering that after blazing for six hours the frame still stood. It was 350 feet long and 110 feet wide, and contained millions of feet of heavy timber. Great sheets of flame shot up hundreds of feet and the column of smoke made a beacon that was seen far out to sea. Scores of yachts and launches took out pleasure parties and lay in the vicinity to watch the burning.

CRADLE OF STRONG SECT.

Here Was Birthplace of Primitive Methodism in England.

The centenary of primitive Methodism was celebrated under remarkable conditions the other day at Mow Cop, a lonely mountain on the borders of Cheshire and Staffordshire, England. It was on Mow Cop in 1807 that a Staffordshire carpenter, Hugh Bourne, a Wesleyan, invited an American preacher, Lorenzo Dow, to hold a meeting. Five men attended it, and Primitive Methodism was born.

RIFLE IN TREE TRUNK.

Oak Has Grown Around the Gun, Almost Completely Imbedding It.

About 11 miles from Contraila, on the road to Little Rock, is a curiosity, to see which would amply repay any one for the drive, says the Seattle Times. About fifty yards from the road, near a deserted homestead, is an old-fashioned rifle imbedded in the trunk of a tree.

The trunk of the scrub oak is not more than six inches through at the point where the rifle is imbedded, so that the stock and barrel are in complete view. The rifle is in a perfect state of preservation.

It is evident that the rifle was placed in a crotch of the tree many years ago, probably at the height at which a man would rest a gun when taking careful aim.

In the course of years the tree has grown completely around the rifle, the lock being imbedded. The crotch is now about six inches above the barrel and the gun is about ten feet from the ground.

Romances innumerable might be woven about the old rifle, but it stands as a memento to the development and progress that have taken place. What was a wild and unexplored country at the time when the rifle was first placed in the crotch of the tree, with the red man monarch of all he surveyed, with scattered settlements of hardy pioneers already preparing to contest his supremacy, is now dotted with farms and homes of prosperous families.

ALWAYS OVER THE HEART.

Policemen as a Rule Wear Their Badges as Shields.

Many persons are puzzled to know why policemen wear their badges so low on their coats, instead of on the flap made for that purpose. As a matter of fact, the badge or star, as he calls it, of many a policeman is right next to his heart. Some blue coats can thank their "stars" for being alive. This little metal shield has deflected the bullet of burglar or highwayman, and at times, too, has stopped the knife thrust of would-be assassins. During the last 20 or 30 years there are many cases on record showing that the little badge has been a life saver. Even bullets fired at close range, as a rule, cannot penetrate the shield. That's why a bluecoat always feels safer in keeping the star at a vital spot. When off duty some policemen wear their stars on their vests, but always directly over the heart. They are so accustomed to the little protector that they feel uneasy without it.

Village of Pelicans.

On the lower course of Casamance river in West Africa exists what a French writer has described as a "village of pelicans." The birds have been so mercilessly hunted that they avoid the presence of man, but in the neighborhood of their "village" they show comparatively little fear. There are even native African, but under the enormous baobab trees in which the birds have established their community. The nests are placed at the ends of branches, five or six in each tree. Dry branches, rudely interlaced, form an insecure looking platform covered with a thick layer of down, and there the young birds, laughingly big and awkward in such a situation, may be seen maintaining an unstable equilibrium, yet never losing their balance.—Youth's Companion.

How a Flea Jumps.

It is said that a flea jumps 200 times its height, and while it usually does land on its feet, it often falls, especially when it falls on a perfectly smooth surface, where the claws can get only a slight hold. A flea has six legs, whose great length and bulk make them so heavy that they must be a great help in keeping their owner right side up and when it makes one of those gigantic jumps and when it lands upside down, or in some other way, its ability to kick is so great that not more than one wriggle is needed to set things right. A flea's wings are mere scales, and of no use; but small and worthless as they are, they tell the entomologist something about the proper classification of the insect. To the flea itself they have no value.

T. S. NOLAN WAS A LOSER BY THE STORM

Lightning Struck and Fire Destroyed
Buildings on His Farm Near Whitewater.

Attorney M. G. Jeffris received word from Whitewater over the telephone yesterday that the buildings on the T. S. Nolan farm in that vicinity were struck by lightning during Thursday evening's storm and destroyed by the fire which followed. Attorney Nolan is in Seattle on business and will probably not hear of his loss until his arrival here the first of the coming week.—Gazette news columns, Aug. 17, 1907.

Another News Item

Stop and think how many items similar to the above you have read since spring.

A lot of them, haven't you?

You don't want YOUR property to furnish material for a "struck by lightning" news story.

You can make your buildings safe from damage by lightning at a very moderate cost.

The Janesville Pure Copper Cable Lightning Rod ABSOLUTELY PROTECTS your buildings and their contents from lightning.

Lightning can only "strike" where there is an accumulation of electricity to attract it, and the Janesville Copper Cable Rod, by carrying off the electricity in the building as fast as it forms, makes such an accumulation impossible.

This is not only good theory, but it has been proven in practice.

Hundreds of thousands of buildings have been equipped with the Copper Cable Lightning Rod, and not one building so equipped was ever damaged by lightning.

Better have your building rodged now.

Papke, Welterweight Known as the "Illinois Thunderbolt."

A HEAVY, CYCLONIC HITTER.

How "Zaza" Harvey, the Old Cleveland Outfielder, Once Broke All Records For Fast Eating—That is, According to Billy Woods.

There is a general tendency on the part of the welterweight fighters to peer anxiously in the direction of Spring Valley, Ill. At short intervals a heavy, crashing noise is heard in that neck of woods, and then the boxing enthusiasts say: "That was nothing. Billy just let another one fall," which translated means that William Papke, the "Illinois Thunderbolt," has sent another aspiring fighter to dreamland. That appears to be Papke's specialty, and of the men he has met a majority of them have taken the count after coming in contact with the heavy fist of the youngster. He does not seem to be up in the fine points of sparring, but he has a wallop that will not be denied.

WILLIAM PAPKE, THE "ILLINOIS THUNDERBOLT."

Papke is not unlike Kid Carter when that thumper was in his prime, and the way in which he drops his opponents reminds one strongly of the Brooklyn Knockout.

There seems to be only one fault to find with Papke, and that is his willingness to bludge men in his native town of Spring Valley. Nearly all his battles have been fought there, and he does not seem to care to wander far from his own bedside. Possibly he thinks he can do better execution under the admiring gaze of his townsmen.

Papke undoubtedly is one of the most rugged youngsters that has broken into the Queensberry game in some years. He has been fighting only about two years, but in that time he has made a name that has attracted attention to him all over the country.

Papke is only twenty-one years old. He is a very courageous fighter, and his style is of the cyclonic order, and when he starts his rush it is difficult for his opponent to get out of his way. He thrashes away like a man falling wheat and never stops till resistance has ceased.

Zaza Harvey, who played outfield on the Cleveland team a few years back, was good in every department of the game and was fast making a great record for himself when his stomach went back on him, which necessitated his retirement from the game when he was right in his prime.

The Cleveland management, knowing how valuable a player Harvey was, did all in its power to keep him in condition, and Zaza himself was the most careful of all in following the doctor's advice as to eating slowly, digesting himself and so forth.

But one day Billy Woods threw consideration into the camp of the Clevelanders by bursting into the clubhouse while the rest of the players were discussing Harvey's case and exclaiming:

"Who do you mean is careful in eating—Harvey? Why, man, it's no such thing; I saw him eat at a fearful rate the other day."

"Where was that, Billy?" asked Armour, much concerned.

"Why, on a railroad train between Philadelphia and New York, and she was travelling at the rate of sixty miles an hour," responded Woods as he rushed for the door.

Secretary Engleman has announced eight early closing events for the harness race meeting at Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 17-20. They are for 2:15, 2:20, 2:30 and three-year-old trotters and 2:13, 2:20, 2:30 and three-year-old pacers. The 2:20 trot and 2:13 pacer are $2,000, the others $1,000 and $500.

It. N. Strader of Lexington, Ky., has bought of W. T. Clusby for $3,000 the two-year-old bay colt by Todd, 2:14 1/2, dam Sorrento, and the yearling filly by Moko, out of the same dam. The colt and filly have joined Hunter Steady's stable.

ISELL'S RETIREMENT.

Chicago American Second Baseman Aspires to Club Ownership.

Frank Isbell, that tall, bald second baseman of the world's champion Chicago White Sox of the American baseball league, has announced his retirement from major league baseball.

"I told President Comiskey recently that I would not be with him again after this season," says Isbell. "The Old Roman was a bit surprised, but when he saw that I was in earnest he only wished me well. It is hard for me to leave the team and quit the big league, but I have other things in sight which are of greater interest to me. In the first place I am negotiating for the purchase of the Wichita club in the Western association. I expect to own it next year and expect to play second base, provided of course Comiskey will let me, and I feel confident he will, inasmuch as I am trying to better myself. I have given him my promise that I will not play with any other major league team."

"My chief reason for retiring from the big league is on account of the health of Mrs. Isbell. We have been pines for a great many years, and now that her health is bad I feel that I should be with her more. As it is so are practically separated all summer. When I leave my home in Wichita I of course take her to Chicago. That breaks up our home. I have been living this kind of life long enough. I have laid away some money, and now I am in a position to retire. I believe I can buy the Wichita club. I now have been negotiating for its purchase and have offered the present owners a price after the close of this season, and I believe next year will see me at its head. Then I will play second base—that is, as I told before, if Comiskey will permit me to do so.

"It made me feel lonesome when I told the boss that I was with him for the last season. He looked at me for a minute. 'You don't mean it,' he said. 'I hope you change your mind, but if you go I want to see you do well and will always be willing to help you,' said he. 'It will leave a big hole for me to fill.'"

Probably no player in the American league has as many friends as Isbell, and it is almost certain that none has more in Chicago. He has been a pillar at second base and at the bat. His playing at all times is on the sensational order, and especially is this true of his batting. His wonderful feat of getting four two baggers in as many times at bat in one of the world's series games last fall will stand in baseball history.

Isbell had not been batting at all during the first few games against the Chicago Nationals. He seemed to have lost his eye, but while he was laying off Robo and others were stinging the ball. In the fifth game, which was played on the west side grounds on Oct. 13, Isbell found his eye against three of the Cub pitchers—Rothbach, Pflaster and Overall—and he drove out four long hits into the crowd. Two of them were in right field and two in left, and one of them would have been a home run to the clubhouse had the crowd been off the infield. It was the most sensational game of the series in point of batting. Added to this, Isbell made two bad errors, but the Sox won the game by a score of 8 to 6, and that after the Cubs had started off with three runs in the first inning.

Isbell says he was born in 1875, which would make him thirty-two years old. There is no one to dispute his contention, and it must be true. He was born in Delavan, N. Y., on April 21. When a mere boy, as he says, his family moved to North Branch, Minn., where they began playing baseball on the prairie.

Harry Niles on Batting.

Harry Niles, the St. Louis Browns' best hitter, says that in addition to having a good eye a batter must have courage and not flinch when the ball comes whizzing over the plate. "Always get your base on balls if possible," he says. "Don't swing at the ball just for the pleasure of hitting it. If it doesn't come right for you to hit it let it go. A base on balls helps as much as a hit in starting off. The main idea in batting—that is, to help toward victory—is to get to first base, no matter how. With men on bases it is time to hit, but even then do not fail to take a base on balls if you can get it. The next batter is good enough to be depended upon. If he isn't he ought not to be on the team."

LUCKY SIDE OF GOLF.

How Jack Hobens' Exploit Was Duplicated on Other Links.

DONE AT MIDLOTHIAN CLUB.

Several Stories of Some Sensational Shots Made on Links of the Famous Club Near Chicago by Women as Well as by the Men.

In talking of Jack Hobens' feat in holing out a 145 yard midiron shot in the national open golf championship at Philadelphia, professionals who later contested for the western title at Hot Springs, Ill., recalled to the minds of golfers like incidents in other districts. Many interesting tales of golf luck were unearthed as a result of gossip on Hobens' performance.

Old Midlothian club (near Chicago) members remember Herbert ("Pop") Tweedle's sensational performance from the second tee there. Mr. Tweedle, now deceased, was a prominent club member and member of the Blue Island Links of the Midlothian club, but he was playing in the tournament there. He was among the top notchers at that time, and for that reason he took a midiron from his bag instead of a driver with which to bridge the distance to the 100 yard hole. The second tee is located higher than the second hole, and "Pop" swatted away. The ball on the drop caught the side of the bunker, pitched itself straight toward the cup. The caddies and players saw it strike the flagstaff and vanish. Tweedle had made the hole in a single stroke, a feat which had never before been accomplished at Midlothian.

In June last year, however, Fred McLeod, the Midlothian professional, in making the record of seventy-one strokes for the eighteen hole course, duplicated the performance of amateur Tweedle, using the midiron, but no one has since had the luck. There is hardly a Midlothian member whose handicap is under five strokes who does not have visions of a 1 for the second hole when he tees off in that direction. Midlothian has a 121 yard cup, the twelfth, but no such feats have ever been registered on that green, mainly because it is situated on a knoll.

Probably no course in the Chicago district has seen the holing of long puts as has Midlothian at its third hole, known as the circus, because of a ridge which surrounds the green. Mrs. G. V. Harvey, in the women's tournament here last season, looked for several minutes for her ball on the opposite side of the circus after a brassie shot of 145 yards. She was much surprised when the caddy pointed to the white sphere within the small cup, from which the flag had not been withdrawn. The day following Miss Marion Warren, who won the tourney, using a maulie holed out for a three from a point forty yards away in the tall grass. Cases of that variety seldom occur, for the ball in its speedy path usually strikes the flagstaff and bounces away and golfers call it luck pure and simple when they hole out with those conditions.

In the final for the Edgewater cup in June at the North Side (Chicago) links, George Lindsay of Homewood was crawling up on his opponent, Chick Evans, the small intercollegiate champion. They were playing in the seventh green and Chick was three up. Becoming a bit wild in his drives, Lindsay put his first outside of the trees, but his second he laid neatly over the trees on to the green. Evans' second was almost out of bounds, being back of the ridge to the east of the green. He was away, and, using a putter through the grass, he rolled his ball prettily over the hill. A misnomer meant the probability of losing the match, but luck intervened and his ball rolled down the sloping green, struck the flagstaff, bounded away six inches and rolled back into the cup. This bit of providence won the match for him at that point.

THE MOOR

Ten centuries ago the Moors were more feared in Europe than any other power. It was a struggle gigantic between Moors and Arabs as to who should master the Gauls and the fair-haired Germans. All Europe was to be conquered. One army was to start from Constantinople, the other to cross the Pyrenees, and the two unite to attack Rome. It was back in the eighth century that the Moors crossed into Spain and almost entirely wiped out the Visigoths in a battle which lasted a week. Within a few years the Moors were masters of all Spain. Their conquest was not stopped until years later when Charles Martel won his signal victory at Tours and stopped their triumphal invasion of the country beyond the Pyrenees. For six centuries the Moors lorded it over Spain and it was not until their people had become less warlike and more domestic during the reign of Ferdinand and Isabella, were they sent back across the Straits of Gibraltar and their beautiful city of Alhambra deserted and peopled by an alien race. The Moor today is a barbarian. His civilization was a failure. He is today back on the same plane of life he was when he started on his career of conquest centuries ago. The world has progressed but he has degenerated. The people who today are fighting against the French and Spanish forces in Algeria are descendants of the mighty people who made Europe tremble centuries ago. They use much the same methods their ancestors did. Their fanatic religion drives them on to death with the same doubtless courage that bore them up in their fight against the Visigoths. Christian Philosophy mingled with Arabian and Moorish sciences created the European races. They left their mark upon the history of the world but they themselves have degenerated. Savage tribesmen today invest the cities of Tangiers and a brave little band of Europeans are again struggling against an overpowering force. However modern science will prevail and the methods of the dark ages will be lost sight of in the great final results.

Even Joliet is liable to have escapes of prisoners. So the Rock county Jail is not the only place from which men can escape.

It does not pay to monkey with the Janesville police force. A man can not be robbed with impunity in this section of the woods.

New York's money comes high, but the city must have it no matter how they get it.

Mr. Fish lost the Illinois Central, but he landed on Mr. Harahan just the same.

Mr. Molton would take on a cab not number every week just for fun.

Find Fault—This morning's dispatches announce that there is a grave fault to be found in the make-up of the American fleet that is to journey around the Horn and be transformed from the Atlantic into the Pacific squadron. The officers who compose the executive staff are too old to be benefited. The Navy needs to be rejuvenated. The average age of the American crews is said to be from twenty to twenty-two. The men who have made the records for the world to go by in target practice are young men—men from the farms of the middle west and west; not old sea dogs with a bit of a pipe stuck into their mouths where tooth should have been, but young men full of life and activity. It is necessary to have men of mature judgment to handle these men. It is perhaps unfortunate that every flag officer in the squadron will retire from active service before the fleet returns to the Atlantic, but the lesson the trip is supposed to teach to the younger men will not be lost because of this fact. Were it not for a vague hope that some day their vessel would be called into active service, see real war, the vessels would be undermanned and without officer. It is this belief that keeps up the interest in the navy; that fills the recruiting stations with the sturdy young men, and Annapolis with bright, ambitious boys. The old sailors of the seventies are fast disappearing. The present-day officers live in a life of progress. The disaster to the Georgia, the killing of the men, is target practice; the sailing into Boston harbor to leave the dead and dying and then returning to the target practice so unfortunately interrupted, showed the caliber of the men who make up our navy. In "Fighting Bob" Evans the American people have a commander whose character is as sterling and rings as true as does the names of former commanders of fame. The Paul Jones, the Decatur, the Lawrence, the Brockedridge, the Porpoise, father and son, Farragut, and others of days gone by lived in a different age, in a day of the wooden sailing vessel in the time of the birth of the steamer era. Today Admiral Evans will command a fleet of vessels that rank well in classification, with the best navies of the world and first in marksmanship. His crews are composed of young men and with the exception of his flag officers, his officers are all young men. The authorities at Washington know the fact so many of the officers are older than the Japanese officers. Japan has just created a navy. Japan has just come out of a struggle where officers were created in a night. The average age of our officers today is younger than it was before the Spanish war and there should not be too much haste to displace the grey heads with younger men. The grey heads are needed to teach the younger men vessels from one ocean to another will be a continual lesson for officers and men and one where the teachers should be men of experience.

Richard Canfield has closed his Saratoga gambling club. His "joint" where millions have been lost and won is now a memory as dear to the residents of Saratoga as are the days when Saratoga was the greatest watering place in the east, when its hotels were filled with Southerners and its springs famous the world over.

Why not let Mr. Harahan and Mr. Fish settle their differences in a padded ring at so much per seat? They would be a bigger drawing card than either Jeffries or Sharkey ever were.

Eighty men perished in the accident to a granite bridge at Quebec. Something gave way, some fault in construction, and the men paid the penalty for the engineers' mistake.

WOMEN IN MEDIEVAL TIMES.
In Many Ways They Had Easier Lives Than Their Descendants.

The women of the sixteenth century and earlier times had easier lives than those of our generation. To be sure, there are a hundred labor saving devices today which were unknown to them. But in at least two important respects they had the advantage over their descendants. They waged no conflict against dirt such as we carry on from morning till night. The Elizabethan had no prejudice against garbage in his front yard, vermin in his bedroom, denying rushes on the floor of his banquet hall, or soiled lace in his sleeves. The strength of arm and spirit which now goes to keeping clean was left to the medieval lady for other tasks. Moreover, although her clothing was gorgeous—rich with embroidery and lace, and heavy with jewels—it was not subject to rapid changes of fashion. The cut of a sleeve or the hang of a skirt was settled for five years rather than five months. Life was then free from the modern terror of "looking like a last year's rag bag."—Youth's Companion.

STATE EXPERTS GIVE ADVICE

HERE FOR CONFERENCE WITH TWO TOWN BOARDS.

ROAD BUILDING DISCUSSED

Gravel to Be Used in Town of Harmony—North-Western Has Constructed "Cut-off" for La Prairie.

W. O. Hotchkiss, head of the highway department of the state geological survey, and A. R. Houtart, state highway engineer, were in the city today and held conferences with the town board of Harmony and the chairman of the Bradford board, discussing the construction of good rural roads. The meeting was held in the office of District Attorney John L. Fisher, who was instrumental in getting the two experts' services for Rock county. The advice and warnings against errors that these two men were able to give will no doubt prove of great benefit to the two towns.

Steam Roller Problem
Both Bradford and Harmony are to build a mile of road this fall. Harmony voted $500 for the work and is to receive a similar amount from the county. The work is in charge of the town board composed of Robert Darnack, chairman, Fred Rumpf and M. J. Connor. Hills along the road to be improved will be the source of gravel supply and the board agrees to get the material at from 40 to 60 cents per cubic yard. While the latter figure is high, the gravel being "backed," the road will not be expensive in the end, for the gravel which is hard to loosen is the kind that hardens quickest and best. A layer of gravel nine feet wide and from nine to twelve inches thick can be placed on a mile of road at less than a thousand dollars. Both Mr. Hotchkiss and Mr. Houtart advise that a steam roller be used as one can this year be rented and run for a month for $300. The town board will decide the roller problem after feeling the sentiment of their constituents.

Other Road Improvements
William Duthie, chairman of the Bradford board, was present at the meeting with the Harmony board. The advice which he heard may be followed in his town. There a similar appropriation has been made for one mile of highway.

For the town of La Prairie the North-Western Railway company is to build a small strip of road high way. At the lower end of their new freight yards several trucks, including the double main line and the lead into the yards, cross two highways—that running east and west through the center of section 18 and that running north and south between sections 18 and 17. The railway company will connect these two by a road running northwest and southeast and paralleling their main line on the southwest. To connect this highway with those in and along section 17 a road, at right angles to the new piece, will be run straight across their tracks. Thus the number of grade crossings will be cut in half. In the town of Center a mile of good gravel road has been completed under the efficient supervision of M. L. O'Neil. Two traction engines, one for shoveling and the other for hauling, were utilized in the work.

JOHN C. SHEDD, the managing partner of the great house of Marshall Field and Company testified before the Board of Review of Cook county three years ago last April that the firm had only $4,000 to its credit in the bank. He said that their receipts and expenditures were so nicely adjusted that that was all they needed. Whether you have $4,000, more or less, on deposit with us, that is your business and it is a principle of our business and one strictly observed, to keep what we know about your business to ourselves. Is the gas range no necessity for big room for coal or bigger room for re-ventilating ash and other waste. More than that, the gas range is a work and worry saver—no coal to carry, no ashes to lift and dispose of, no dust, no dirt and less cleaning for that very reason. All about the economies of gas usage told at this office—at your home if you prefer—if we may know your desire for information.

LIVELY TIME FOR PRINCE WILHELM

BRILLIANT BANQUET FOLLOWS
VISIT TO CONEY ISLAND.

HE IS GOOD SIGHT-SEER

Visits Injured Sailor of the Fyglia in a Hospital—Sees Skyscraper
Under Construction.

New York, Aug. 30.—Prince Wilhelm of Sweden spent a busy 30 hours in New York. He is beating the long-standing record for activity in sight-seeing of Prince Henry of Prussia, as well as those of Gen. Kuroki and Admiral Yamamoto, New York's most recent distinguished visitors.

The athletic young prince from Sweden is going through New York as his distinguished great-grandfather, the first Bernadotte, Napoleon's marshal, went through the allied Austrians and Russians at Austerlitz a hundred years ago.

His Varied Pleasures.
Prince Wilhelm has lunched with the president, shot the chutes and bumped the bumps at Coney Island, raced through all the most crowded streets in an automobile, climbed a skyscraper, and Thursday night he sat as the guest of honor at the most brilliant and elaborate banquet New York has ever seen. And he has done it all with enthusiasm and with a keen appreciation of everything that makes those who see him wish that they might be near when the young prince returns to Stockholm and relives his experiences to his father, Crown Prince Gustav, and his grandfather, "good old King Oscar."

A night visit to Coney Island pleased the prince, and the prince planned Coney Island. "I never had such a good time before," said the prince when he returned to the Hotel Astor long after midnight.

Visits Injured Sailor.

It was 11 o'clock before the prince made his appearance at the Hotel Astor Thursday morning, and soon after he entered an automobile and was driven to Roosevelt hospital, where Johan Persen, a sailor of the Swedish cruiser Fyglia, on which the prince came to America, lies near to death. While returning to his ship, which is anchored in the Hudson river, Wednesday night, Persen fell overboard, and struggled with the current and the tide for 15 minutes before he was rescued. He is in a critical condition and the prince remained by his bedside for 15 minutes. When he left he asked that everything possible be done for the sailor and that daily reports of his condition be sent to the Hotel Astor.

Leaving the hospital, the prince, accompanied by the Swedish minister and Madame Lagergren and other members of his party, was driven downtown through the crowded streets to the Singer building, now under construction. The party was taken to the twenty-ninth floor, the topmost completed landing of the building, from which a special good view of the city may be had. An invitation to the prince to mount the ladders for another seven stories, where only the skeleton frame has been finished, was unhesitatingly declined, but the royal visitor was much interested in the construction work and asked innumerable questions of Chief Engineer Malgren, himself a Swede.

When the party left the building Broadway and the nearby cross streets were packed with people, held in check by a large force of police. The crowd cheered the prince, which he acknowledged with a wave of his hand.

Metropolitan Banking Business.
Eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars is drawn from the New York savings banks each day.

BIG FIRE IN LOUISVILLE.

Courier-Journal Building is Practically Destroyed by Flames.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 30.—The Courier-Journal building at Fourth and Green streets caught fire just after midnight Thursday night and within half an hour was practically ruined. It was believed all the employees escaped safely.

The fire spread with remarkable rapidity through the office building, which was half a block in length and five stories high. The plants of the Courier-Journal and Evening Times suffered irreparable damage. The former paper was offered the use of the Morning Herald plant.

The fire started at the top of an elevator shaft at the north end of the building, and is supposed to have been caused by defective insulation of electric wires.

Fast Train Leaves the Rails.

Oil City, Pa., Aug. 30.—The Niagara Express, one of the fastest trains on the Pennsylvania railroad between Buffalo and Pittsburgh, left the rails at Centerville, 30 miles north of here, Thursday. The train, which was running 40 miles an hour, was a double-header filled with excursionists from Chautauqua lake. The forward engine ran along the ties for almost a quarter of a mile before it was stopped, but did not overturn. All the passengers were badly shaken up, but none hurt.

Wabash River Steamer Sinks.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 30.—The steamer Lafayette sank in the Wabash river near Mt. Carmel, Ill., Thursday after striking a snag. The crew and passengers were rescued.

Tough Cat.

An instance of the remarkable vitality possessed by the cat has just been demonstrated at Herbling, Eng. A very fine cross-bred Persian mysteriously disappeared from his home, and 16 days later was found in an open field secured in a rabbit trap. Notwithstanding the animal's long and painful confinement and exposure to the heavy rains, it was still alive. It was, however, reduced to a mere skeleton and was unable to walk, but under proper treatment it is recovering. That the cat had been in the trap all the time is beyond question, as otherwise it would have returned home to a kitten which it was suckling at the date of its disappearance.

Wooden Flywheel.

After an accident to the flywheel in a large European electric station the superintendent designed and had constructed a flywheel of wood which has a diameter of 66 feet and a rim width of ten feet. The thickness of the rim is about 12 inches and it is made up of 44 thicknesses of beech planks with staggered joints. The boards were glued together and then bolted. The inside consists of a double wheel, the 24 spokes of which are fastened to two hubs. Spokes and hubs are operated at 36 revolutions a minute, which corresponds to a peripheral speed at the rim of 139 feet a second.

Sawdust Worth Money.

The sawdust of fine hardwood brings good prices. There are about 12 varieties of it, and each has its appropriate use. Boxwood sawdust, the most expensive of all, is used by manufacturers to burnish silver plate and jewelry. Sandalwood is used for scent bars and for the preservation of furs.

No Escape.

The London Lancet points out that since it costs more to train a doctor nowadays fees should be higher. Already overburdened by the cost of living, we are threatened with an increase in the cost of dying.

Then There Was Silence.

"Dear friends," began a speaker at a meeting the other night. "I call you 'dear friends.' I won't call you ladies and gentlemen because, you see, I know you all so well."

FIGHTING PLAGUE IN SAN FRANCISCO

NINE RECENT CASES AROUSE
ALL THE AUTHORITIES.

SURGEON GENERAL ACTS

City Officials Co-operate in Campaign Against the Disease—The Year's Mortality in India.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Advice received by the surgeon general of the public health and marine hospital service at Washington show that from August 12 up to Thursday there have been nine cases of plague at San Francisco and six deaths. Two of the cases were sailors from coasting vessels. The other cases have occurred in the county and city hospital and in other parts of the city.

Instructions have been sent to all quarantine officers on the Pacific coast to carefully inspect vessels from San Francisco, and at the larger stations to fumigate vessels on arrival from San Francisco for destruction of rats. The state board and the public health and marine hospital service are working in co-operation and arrangements have been made for the disinfection of all vessels leaving San Francisco.

All Working Together.
The officers of the public health and marine hospital service in San Francisco, several of whom have had experience in plague in the Philippines and elsewhere, are in touch with the authorities of San Francisco, and as a result of conference it is expected that the supervisors will begin at once an active campaign against the disease. The surgeon general has sent to San Francisco two officers from Washington of exceptional experience, and has authorized the employment of additional medical officers there and additional quarantine forces.

The revenue cutter service has been directed by the secretary of the treasury to assist in the measures to be taken in San Francisco harbor.

Plague Mortality in India.

The current issue of the Public Health Reports published by the marine hospital service contains a review of the mortality statistics for India for the year 1906 in which the number of deaths attributed to plague is placed at 59,615. The report is by Acting Assistant Surgeon Baktin, who is stationed at Calcutta. He says:

"This number is comparatively low. One thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven inoculations were performed and only one death was reported of those inoculated. One thousand one hundred and forty-six of the total number of inoculations were done on the prisoners in the Gya Jail, which leaves but 631 for the rest of the province. Obviously the procedure is not one looked upon with favor by the people. Rat extermination is being vigorously carried out in many places."

The number of deaths from fever was placed at 1,132,573 and from cholera at 192,336, the highest number ever recorded from cholera.

Held for Stealing His Wife.

Princeton, Ind., Aug. 30.—Charles E. Henley, who is charged with stealing his wife, gave himself up to the authorities here Thursday and was released on $500 bail. The warrant was sworn out by the father of the girl, who says she is but 15 years old and that Henley stole her and went to Mt. Carmel, Ill., a short time ago, where they were married.

Yellow Fever Near Havana.

Washington, Aug. 30.—A cablegram from Havana to the Marine Hospital service reports the appearance of yellow fever at Campo, across the bay from Havana. There is one undoubted case and other suspected cases.

Snail's Slow Progress.

A snail's rate of travel was ascertained by experiments in Florence. Half a dozen snails were permitted to crawl between two points ten feet apart. Exact time was kept from the start to the finish, and thus the average pace was learned. The figures were then put into tables of feet, yards and furlongs, and it was found that it would take a snail exactly 14 days to travel a mile.

Where Sun's Rays Never Reach.

At about 600 feet below the surface of the sea the warmth and light of the sun cease to have any effect worth mentioning. From that depth downward the ocean is always cold and always dark, the temperature of the water standing a little above the freezing point.

Ginger Beer.

Pour a gallon of boiling water on one pound of loaf sugar, half an ounce of ginger, and one ounce of cream of tartar. When nearly cold add a tablespoonful of yeast. Strain, bottle, and in six hours it will be ready for use. If root ginger is used, boil it in the water for 20 minutes.

London's Contrasts.

London is the city of great contrasts. Adjacent to places which can be said to be the center of life of our times we find streets where time seems to have stood still, and life itself moves in the slow and old-fashioned form of another century.

Say Sun Is Losing Heat.

Together with French and German
scientists no less eminent an authority
than Prof. Charles L. Doolittle,
director of the Flower Observatory
of the University of Pennsylvania, asserts that the sun is gradually losing its heat. For years the diameter of the sun has been contracting at the rate of 50 yards a year.

Whence "Strawberry?"

The name strawberry has puzzled
a good many people who like to find
the origin of names. Many suppose it used to be the custom to string the berries on straws and sell them in that way, hence the name. But the real name is strawberry, due to the running habits of the vine.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janville Daily Gazette, Friday,
August 30, 1867.—(Rev. Mr.
Hodge is now at home and will preach next Sunday.)

Baseball.—Twenty Wisconsin baseball clubs have already reported to the secretary that they will be in attendance at the tournament in Detroit commencing September 3. Several clubs
from without the state will also be present. A portion of the prizes have already been received from New York
consisting of a silver ball, and gold
and silver mounted rowing boats.
They are of pure metal and of most beautiful workmanship.

Brief Mention.—Dan Rice's show
was well attended yesterday, both in the afternoon and evening. We invite Janville turns out the greatest crowds for such performances of any town of its size in the west. If Henry Ward Beecher were to lecture here

upon the same evening that a band of negro minstrels were to perform, the knights of the burnt cork would beat
the eminent divine two to one, at half a dollar a head. It is merely a matter of taste.

Senator Todd was in the city today.

The freight on lumber has been increased one dollar per thousand.

A match game of baseball is being played this afternoon between the Lower City and the Milton clubs.

Last night was a chilly one, there
having been a light frost in some of the lower regions.

Before The Footlights

When Messrs. Spofford, Powell &
Cohn arranged for the production of the great cartoon comedy they evidently had in mind a form of entertainment that would please all classes
of theatre goers. That their original ideas and subsequent realization of
them were based upon keen observation of what the public really want,
is evidenced by the remarkable favor
with which this offering has been received in all the principal cities.
The song and comedy features combine in a way that appeal to everybody from the most inconspicuous occupant of the gallery to the most exacting person in the dress circle. There is not a dull moment in the entire performance. One critic characterized it as a "Kansas Cyclone of mirth
and merriment." This is a good description, but does not tell it all, for the plot sustains a pretty love story and
the score embraces a number of very
easily and original musical numbers.
Alphonse and Gaston will be seen at
the Myers theatre Monday, Sept. 2,
matinee and evening.

The Myers theatre announces "The Cow-Puncher" for this evening. It is the work of Hal Reid. No writer
of modern fiction has more convincingly placed in the list of dramatic presentations than Mr. Reid. He has told his story of "The Cow-Puncher"
in the Golden West. His characters are clear cut and out well developed, and
the rich, natural atmosphere of the play is never for a moment forgot-
ten. His love scenes are deliciously
droll and unique. The dramatic endorsement of each act seems to come
without an effort, like a distant roll of thunder, they come nearer and nearer
until they seem to burst with spontaneous combustion as the curtain falls.
His comedy is refreshing and
new. Poets of genuine laughter
brought from the audience at the witty lines and clever situations. W. P.
Mann who produced the play, is to be congratulated on the excellent
manner in which the piece is staged.
One forgets they are merely looking at a play, the scenery is so true to life, that we can imagine ourselves in Arizona without knowing how we got there.

"Ma's New Husband."

Smiles and sunshine, they chase
ghosts from your own face and from the faces of all who see them. And
laughter—the development of a smile
to the exploding point—that is a tonic
for the whole body, from crown
to heel, the ambrosia that refreshes
both the outer and the inner man with a revivifying influence that almost
makes a new creation.

Have you ever been to a school of laughter? There are as many different kinds of laughs as there are different kinds of character—laughs that sound like the noise emitted from the
throat of a man, who is leaning out
of a window when the heavy sash
falls and strikes him in the middle;
laughs that have the music of a bird
warbling, and laughs that burst out
with a hearty roar, affecting com-
pactly every soul within hearing
distance.

Take the tip; if you want to get a
lesson in laughter see "Ma's New Husband" at the Myers Theatre Saturday, Aug. 31, matinee and evening.
Laughter of the contagious type, especially, will prevail, as one watches
the delightful pranks, the unexpected
complexities of situation and the ely-
ing or dodging of difficulties revealed
during the performance.

"The story hinges on the love making
of a widow, Maria Longfellow, and Herbert Short, an actor in hard luck.
In order to tide over their difficulties,
he is obliged to masquerade as her son, Willie Longfellow. She is assisted by a wealthy bachelor cousin, in
whose house all the complications
arise. The wealthy cousin engages a tutor for the supposed boy and with other guests in the house to add to
the complications, the fun waxing fast
and furious. To make confusion
worse confounded, Maria Longfellow's
wealthy cousin is also in love with her and is suing for her hand. After a most strenuous time, Short comes out
with flying colors and wins the woman
of his choice.

"The Girl Hunters." George W.
Lederer's new musical production,
opens at the Auditorium Sept. 1. Manager Edward Adams has been busy
for weeks supervising the refitting
of the house, in which about $25,000
has been expended in the purchase of
new draperies, carpets and the redecorating of the interior. Popular prices will prevail under the new

DROPS 2,000 FEET; LIVES

STRANGE ESCAPE FROM DEATH OF AERONAUT MALONEY.

Falls with His Balloon After Accident
at Barnstable, Mass.—Gov. Gullit Leads Rescuers.

Barnstable, Mass., Aug. 30.—Nearly 5,000 persons at the Barnstable Community Fair saw "Professor" Maloney, a balloonist, drop 2,000 feet to earth,
strife on top of a cedar fence post
and escape probably with his life.

Maloney made his ascent late Thursday afternoon, and as the visitors at the fair grounds gazed upward they saw that his attempts to cut his parachute were fruitless. A sharp easterly wind had blown the
rope which connects with the knife
amongst a mass of cords higher up
and out of reach of the balloonist.

For fully two miles Maloney floated
along. The gas was rapidly leaking
from the big bag above him, and he prepared for the long drop. Maloney
and the balloon came earthward rapidly. As it neared the earth the canvas
fell about the body of the aeronaut
and prevented him from seeing where he was falling. He struck in a half standing position on the top of a big
cedar post used by a farmer to mark off his field. His back was terribly torn
and his left arm badly injured.

A long line of automobiles, headed
by one carrying Gov. Curran Gullit,
who was a visitor at the fair, rushed
to the spot where Maloney had fallen.
The man was picked up in a semi-
conscious condition and was hurried
to his hotel in Barnstable Center.
Physicians who attended him say that he is not internally injured and will recover.

RAIL OPERATORS MAY STRIKE.

President Small Says Such Action
Wouldn't Surprise Him.

New York, Aug. 30.—National President Small said Thursday that he would not be surprised if there would be a general strike of the railroad
telegraphers within the next few days.

Daniel L. Russell, chairman of the board of strategy of the strikers, said
he had good grounds for the belief
that the strike would be settled by the middle of next week.

Thomas P. Pierson, eastern vice president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, who is in this city, was
asked what he thought of the prospect of a general strike of railroad telegraphers. He said he did not believe it would be necessary, and that he did not think the railroad companies
would insist on the railroad telegraph-
ers doing commercial business.

fell to the floor. He claimed to have been fouled, but Referee Roche refused to allow the claim.

 McCumber graduated from the Michigan and he went to North Dakota

 the following year and began the practice of his profession, in which he won almost immediate success. On May 29, 1888, he married Miss Jennie Shorning. He was sent to the territoral legislature from 1885 until 1887.
 This home is in Wahpeton, North Da-

 his state and is not considered a wealthy man as members of the upper house of congress are estimated nowadays.

Slipping Plants.
 Slipping is not difficult even for an amateur, and consists in cutting a branch above a joint and thrusting it into sandy soil. This should be kept moist and out of the sun for two weeks, or more when it should have rooted. Then transplant. If several clippings are taken from one plant,
 the old root should be thrown away.

Good Home Medicine.
 In severe attacks of colic a tea-
 spoonful of salt dissolved in a teacup
 of cold water has been known to give
 immediate relief. The same dose will
 revive a person who has been stunned
 by a heavy fall. If he can be forced
 to swallow it.

SHORT TALKS BY
L. T. COOPER.

INDIGESTION.
 Show me a person who suffers from indigestion or dyspepsia and I will show you a person who has the most disposition on earth. You can't blame them.

Nothing in the
 world takes all the
 cheer and bright-
 ness out of life
 like a balky stomach. People who suffer in this way
 feel out of humor,
 out of sorts and irritable.

Mrs. E. Keogh, rattle all the time.
 They can't eat a meal without suffering intensely afterward. "Their faces
 are usually covered with pimples and blotches. They always have headache,
 constipation, are tired and listless and
 as many whom I have talked to put it
 "It just feel mean all over." "They are always dosing themselves on pills
 and pro-digested foods and the like
 until they have so weakened their
 stomachs that they can't eat anything.
 It's all nonsense. I have seen and talked with people who have lived for
 months on milk and toast, take a bottle or two of Cooper's New Discovery
 and inside of two weeks sit down and
 eat a big meal at night, then go to bed and sleep as well as any one.
 Here is one case I have in mind.
 Mrs. Ellen Keogh, 1907 Ogden Ave.,
 Superior, Wis., recently wrote me:
 "No one knows what awful suffering
 I have endured from indigestion. My stomach would not digest the simplest foods and no matter what I ate I would be sure to suffer afterward. I was also constipated and had queer
 dizzy spells and faithful headache.
 Sometimes I felt so badly that I could scarcely walk. I had taken Cooper's New Discovery but a short time when I noticed a decided improvement.
 Now I can truthfully say I feel greatly improved in every way and today
 for the first time in ten years I enjoyed a hearty meal. I am indeed
 very grateful to you."

Good Home Medicine.
 In severe attacks of colic a tea-
 spoonful of salt dissolved in a teacup
 of cold water has been known to give
 immediate relief. The same dose will
 revive a person who has been stunned
 by a heavy fall. If he can be forced
 to swallow it.

The fact that Mr. Cooper's medicine
 enjoys larger sales than any other is proof of their great merit.

 Carpenter Succeeds Him.

 Adam Holt, for twenty-four years
 proprietor of the Railroad hotel, will turn over the keys to Charles Carpenter, the new owner. During the new quarter of a century Mr. Holt
 has been landlord his genial personality and upright methods of dealing
 have made for him a wide and warm
 local following of friends in this section of the country, and it is to be hoped that the same success will attend the new landlord.

AGED WOMAN FELL AND FRACTURED BONE IN FOOT

Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson of La
 Prairie, a well known resident seventy-five years of age, fell, breaking a bone in her foot and spraining her ankle. On account of her advanced
 years it will be ten or twelve weeks

No Two Mouths Alike.
 Dr. Paul Prager, an Austrian army
 surgeon, who has made a special study
 of methods of identification, recommends that prisoners should be identified by the shape of their palates. Dr.
 Prager declares that the method would be much more reliable than any at present used, for among the thousands
 of molds he has taken of the interior
 of the human mouth he has failed to
 find two which even slightly resembled each other. Although the teeth
 alter greatly with time, the markings
 of the palate remain unchanged
 throughout life.

Scriptures Reversed.
 The hobo who had been sleeping
 under a tree on the roadside awake
 and irritably began scratching himself. "The good book is full of truths,"
 he said, "but things have changed
 slightly. Nowadays it is the ant that goes to the sluggard." After which it was a case of not yet a little slumber, but yet a little sleep.

Grown Timid.
 "So you contend that watered stocks
 and mergers constitute a public benefit?" said one commuter. "I don't exactly," answered the other. "But I don't think it's best to interfere with
 the great financiers, as the first thing
 some of them think of when they are annoyed is putting up the price to
 the consumer."

Doctor's Dignity.
 Why should we tell patients what we are giving them? Depend upon it
 by so doing we lose our dignity as a profession. The public now think they know as much as the medical man.—Medical Times.

Certainly Not.
 "The actress who is too poor to purchase diamonds," remarked the Observer of Events and Things, "need
 not let that interfere with her having
 them stolen."

Revised Proverb.
 Some women think that the proverb
 ought to read: "Ask your wife, to make sure that you are right and then go ahead."

Y. M. C. A. BOYS
ARE BREAKING CAMP

Look Hike from Delavan to Geneva
 Wednesday—Raced in Auditorium During Rain.

(Special Correspondence.)
 Janesville Y. M. C. A. Camp at Delavan Lake, Aug. 29.—We took a
 hike to Lake Geneva yesterday, visiting the Yerkes observatory, saw the big dome revolve and the 24-ton tele-
 scope, took two "dips" in the lake,
 had a nice lunch and then came back to Lake Delavan. Thirty-six of us
 took the trip; all are well this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. McGowan and Mrs.
 Behlman are visiting the camp.

We have our big campfire and corn
 roast tonight. Tomorrow, 3 p. m., we break camp. It is raining this morning and the boys are making
 some records running around the auditorium. Roger Cunningham has the record for the intermediates and Don Stewart the Juniors. Ralph Tippet
 also made the round in 20 1/2 seconds,
 tying Roger. If it stops raining we will take a trip around the lake in the steamer. Mr. Woyce, state secretary of the boys' work, is with us.

FLYING ROLLERS TO BE INVESTIGATED

Charges of Moral and Financial Misconduct Against Leaders
 of Sect.

Marion and Charity and Gale and Lena, the two couples of Flying Roller messengers (missionaries) who
 were here Tuesday and Wednesday,
 may never return to their "New Jerusalem" at Benton Harbor, Mich., for
 the sect is soon to be investigated by
 the wolverine state authorities and
 the British vice consul at Chicago.
 Benjamin and Mary Purcell, who are leaders of the faith in America and
 absolute rulers of the sociopathic colony, are alleged to have "passed" and
 are now charged with misconduct in connection with the management of "The House of David," as they have named their "Eden." Against Benjamin is charged illegal financial dealings and moral misbehavior. The Michigan Attorney General's office is
 on the eve of instituting proceedings
 against Purcell and possibly his wife.
 It is proposed to amend the charter
 under which the organization has a legal existence and possibly try Purcell on the charges made against him. The English prosecutor has asked Michigan for the return to Australia of two British subjects who were induced to join the colony and donate
 their all, which was a considerable
 fortune; will soon make a personal inspection of the place and possibly seek to have all English subjects in
 the sect re-imprisoned.

Under the law Purcell and his wife
 are absolute owners of the colony, the
 real estate of which is highly improved and has a valuation of between $250,000 and $300,000. The whole area
 of land are filled by 385 rollers who
 work without pay and buy all necessaries of life, including shoes, by order. Previous to Purcell's establishment of this colony four years
 ago he was connected for a time with the New Eve colony of Detroit. When their leader, "Prince Michael," was imprisoned Purcell succeeded him. It is related that he ruined a pretty
 young girl, who died from the treatment received. He was tried by his followers, indicted on 25 counts and
 "loosed." Less odious but misconduct of a similar nature is charged against him as head of the Flying Rollers.

A new product—Dr. Shoop's Health
 Coffee—is said to so closely match Old
 Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor, taste,

 "And yet," says Dr. Shoop, "Health Coffee
 has not even a grain of real Coffee in it."
 I make my Coffee imitation from pure,

 it Health Coffee.

GOOD WORK AT THE HAGUE

MR. BARTHOLOMTZ PREDICTS RE-SULTS OF CONFERENCE.

Laying Foundation for Permanent World Peace—America and Germany Hand in Hand.

Washington, Aug. 30.—The United States and Germany are working hand
 in hand at the Hague conference, according to Representative Richard Bartholdt, president of the American
 Group of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, who arrived in Washington
 from the sessions Thursday.

There was at first a disagreement
 between the representatives of the two countries on the question of disarmament, but with this subject out of the way, the delegates became in thorough accord on international arbitration. The town work of the United States and Germany at the conference is causing much comment
 throughout Europe, says Mr. Bartholdt.

"This conference will lay the foundation for the permanent peace of the world," said Mr. Bartholdt. "The world
 generally is laboring under the wrong
 impression as to the probable results
 of the conference, which is now moving along right lines and will be profitable of results that the practical
 friends of the cause of arbitration and
 peace have advocated."

"The results of the conference can
 be concisely summed up in this way:
 First, periodicity of Hague conferences,
 which means that future councils of
 nations will be held at The Hague
 without first having been called either
 by a president or a czar."

"Second, a result of great importance will be to make The Hague a great and permanent institution with 17 permanent judges to receive salaries not from one nation but from all nations combined, so that they will be enabled to act independently and impartially of the countries they represent. This is strictly an American proposition and will surely be carried.

"Third, there will be an arbitration
 treaty which will specify the questions
 in which arbitration shall be obliga-
 tory and these questions will include
 the collection of debts, a matter in which Americans are particularly interested."

"Consequently it is safe to say that every practical friend of peace will have reason to be satisfied with the achievements of the second Hague
 conference and only those will be disappointed who expected the impossible."

Utopia.

There is a farm in Maine where the farmer never allows wild creatures to be molested. Consequently they have come to know that they are safe there, and it has become one of their favorite haunts. Nearly every afternoon the deer come out and feed in a field near the house, and the farm people can go very near without frightening them. The farmer thinks that this is much more interesting than hunting.

Treatment of New Floor.

A new floor when waxed must be left over night before polishing, but an old floor may be polished as soon as the wax has been applied all over it. A woolen rag may be used for this purpose, but the best thing is a weighted brush, with a long handle. This should be used first across the grain of the wood, then parallel with it.

Compromise.

"I have a little granddaughter," said a senator, "who is very fond of animals, especially dogs. Her mother has taught her to pronounce the word until it sounds like dahg. Her father sticks to the good old-fashioned dawg, so the child has compromised, and now every canine is a dahg-dawg."

Contrary to the general opinion the beaver does not always build a house for himself, being content very often with a burrow in the bank of the stream. As is the case with the house the entrance to a burrow is under water, though sometimes there is an opening from the surface through which brush and sticks are carried for their food supply.
